NDIFUNA'S RESTAURANT

In Kinawa village lives an old man called Ndifuna. He has three children; one boy and two girls. The girls wake up early in the morning at 5:00am to go and work in their father's restaurant as waitresses as their mother cooks the food. The boy walks all over the village looking for food that will be prepared in the restaurant the next day. In addition, this boy had to fetch water using a very old bicycle. None of Ndifuna's children goes to school as they are fully in business.

Ndifuna gets a lot of profits from this restaurant because he does not have to pay the workers. Food like matooke, rice, meat, peas, beans and potatoes is sold. Juice is well prepared and most customers pop in for this good, fresh juice that is made from local fruits like pineapples, oranges and passion fruits. The price of food is determined by the sauce, then all the food of one's preference is provided. This is well illustrated on the menu, for example, chicken stew at eight thousand shillings, beans at three thousand five hundred shillings, peas at four thousand shillings and fish at ten thousand shillings. When one pays for the stew, he is free to choose any food. Juice is at seven hundred shillings a glass.

At Ndifuna's restaurant, food is well prepared and the place is really clean. Furthermore, the waitresses are very kind, disciplined and welcoming. This had made their business attract a lot of customers from near and far.

The customers are received from morning to evening and sometimes even at night. Heavy breakfast is served in the morning; Katogo with tea and immediately after, the chef makes sure that lunch is also ready.

The most interesting thing in this restaurant is that one pays before being served. On the wall, there are instructions, "ORDER WITH CASH." The money is paid to the cashier who offers a receipt. No customer leaves without paying for the food eaten. Ndifuna has been able to build himself a house, buy plots of land and to live a happy life. He enjoys his job, however, people have always blamed him for not taking his children top school.

53. Read the poem below and answer the questions about it in full sentences

SAFETY ON THE ROAD

Everyone, everywhere!
People on the move
Back and forth they travel
Vehicles rushing left and right
Pedestrians, motorists and cyclists
Crossing at every point of the road
Leaving traffic police officers in confusion
Who is to blame for safety on the road?

Everyone, Everywhere!
Overloaded vehicles hooting
Noise breaking ears of the hearers
Reckless drivers and cyclists in the lead
As if it's a motor rally car race,
To see who reaches the destination first!
And the Highway Code is left in silence
Who is responsible for safety on the road?

Everyone, Everywhere!
Taxi drivers loading and offloading
At every point of the road, they are busy.
Passengers heading for their destinations
While others crossing busy roads
Just at the mercy of their creator!
Where is safety on the road?

Everyone, Everywhere!
Whose concern is it, mine or yours?
Speeding cars in a rush
With no respect for life they crash
And causing fatal accidents as they smash
Innocent travelers die with cries and sorrows
Laving relatives and friends in endless pain.
Why not listen and obey road safety rules?

Attention, everyone, everywhere!
Road safety is everybody's concern
Stop pointing fingers and play your part
Be careful as you use the road
Follow and respect the Highway code
Collaborate with the traffic police
To assist in controlling traffic
Together we shall save life.
