THE HONEST MECHANIC

Toolbox in the hand very early every morning, The honest mechanic goes to the garage To repair burst car tyres with spanner and tubes So that you can drive safely and comfortably.

Toolbox in the hand very early every morning, The honest mechanic goes to his place of work To repair broken down engines and gearboxes So that you can drive safely and smoothly.

Seated in a strong and reliable breakdown
The honest mechanic is called in the afternoon
To tow broken down cars to the garage
So that they are soundly repaired for safe use.

Toolbox in the hand very late every evening,
The hungry, tired mechanic goes home every evening
To take food, clothes and other comforts to his family
So that they can stay happy, hopeful and united.

52. Read the passage and in full sentences, answer the questions that follow. BALU LOSES ELECTIONS FOR GAMES PREFECT AT FFENE PRIMARY SCHOOL

Ffene Primary School organises elections for prefects in the second week of September every year. The prefects are elected to help teachers in maintaining discipline and order in the school. The exercise always starts with picking forms from Mr. Pingu, the chairperson of the body that organises elections in the school. After filling the forms, the pupils wishing to stand in the elections then look for three teachers on the staff to support them by signing on the forms. The signed forms are then returned to the committee made up of seven teachers and two pupils from P. 7. The committee then writes a list of pupils allowed to contest for different posts.

Last year Balu decided to take part in the elections for prefects. He picked, filled and had his forms signed by Mr. Oto, his science teacher, Miss. Abo, his teacher of English and Mrs. Kuno, his teacher of Mathematics. He returned the forms to the organizing committee. He was lucky because the committee allowed him to contest for the post of Games Prefect.

At first Balu's campaigns went well in P. 3, P. 4 and P.5. Things started going wrong in P. 6 when the pupils in the class asked him to tell them the game he participated in. Balu had no answer as he had none. To make matters worse, he tried to bribe the pupils with sweets. On 11th September, which was the election day, Balu came second after losing to Ekemu, who was the captain of the school football team. Kato, the other pupil who contested for the same post came third in the election.

Questions

When were the elections for prefects held last year?
How many members make up the committee for the electing prefects in the school?
Who was the chairperson of the committee at the time the elections were held?
How are prefects in the school helpful to the teachers?
What should a person intending to become a prefect do before they are given permission contest?
Why do you think the committee asks pupils intending to become prefects to be support by their teachers?
How many pupils contested for the post of Games Prefect?
Why do you think Balu bought sweets for the pupils?
